2008 SEASON OUTLOOK

Coming off a sensational 2007 season in which they finished third in the North Coast Athletic Conference with a 5-2 record, the Oberlin College football team is poised for another outstanding year in 2008. Head coach Jeff Ramsey's team returns 16 starters from a year ago, including NCAC Offensive Player of the Year R.V. Carroll at running back and veteran quarterback Greg Mangan.

The dynamic duo of Carroll and Mangan accounted for 29 of the Oberlin's school-record 43 touchdowns and helped the Yeomen post a school-best 310 points last season. Carroll, who also garnered All-America and All-North Region honors, led the NCAC in rushing (103.8 yards per game), scoring (9.8 points per game), touchdowns (16) and yards (1,038) last season.

Mangan enters the season just one touchdown pass shy of tying the school record (36) and should hold nearly all of Oberlin's school records by years end. In 2007 he threw for 2,267 yards, including a single-game school record of 367 yards against Heidelberg (Sept. 8, 2007). Mangan, who was an NCAC honorable-mention selection in 2007, also led the NCAC with 223.6 yards per game and finished second with a 62.7 completion percentage.

Sophomore Ryan Harvey and senior tight end J.J. Hepp will look to fill the void left by Chris Schubert and Cassius Harris as Mangan's top pass catchers. Harvey is a speedster who played in all 10 games as a freshman and averaged 13.3 yards per catch. Hepp, from nearby Bay Village, Ohio, should be one of the premier tight ends in the conference this season. Last year he played in all 10 games, making nine starts while averaging 10.7 yards per catch and scoring one touchdown. After taking last season off from football, basketball star Mike Loll returns to the gridiron to help bolster the Yeomen's wide receiving core. At 6-5, Loll will be a nice target in the red zone and also has the ability to stretch the field.

Senior tackle Max Roessler will anchor Oberlin's offensive line unit. Roessler, who is a three-year starter, will be joined up front with sophomore Chris Pottmeyer as he moves to the center spot to fill the shoes of Caleb Buck. Fellow sophomore Mike Law will also step into the strong side tackle spot and is in charge of protecting Mangan's blind side.

The Oberlin defense will try to avoid the injuries that plagued them a year ago. Leading the defensive backfield is Kris DeVant. Although he started nine games last season, he was continually fighting through injuries and hopes to return to his all-region form from 2006. Despite the pain, DeVant still managed to lead the Yeomen with four sacks, while registering 54 tackles. After being injured on the opening kickoff of 2007, Clayton Thurmer returns as a fifth-year senior. In 2006 he was second on the team with 76 tackles and also added a fumble recovery. Sophomore Tyler Lewis, who played in all 10 games including three starts in his first year, will also be counted on for a large contribution this season.

Oberlin's linebackers are led by sophomore Austin Richards, as he started all 10 games as a freshman and finished fourth on the team with 58 tackles – including 7.5 for loss. Derrick Dennis will also look to build off of his strong second half of the season, as he is a true ball hawk who displays tremendous speed. In 2007 he made seven starts and had a 56-yard interception return for a touchdown. Second-year player Ron Rupard also brings nine games of experience from last year.

Co-captain Jon Feazell leads the defensive line for the Yeomen after starting all 10 games, earning 38 tackles (6.5 TFL) and 1.5 sacks. Sophomore Adam Wigren, who played in all 10 games and made seven starts as a freshman, is the Yeomen's main run stopper from his nose tackle spot. Senior A.J. Greene is another player who is coming off of a strong junior season, while sophomore Cody Wiewandt will also solidify the interior of the line.

ROESSLER

Sophomore Zach Richard returns to handle the kicking duties after a record-setting performance as a freshman with 36 PATs. However, the Yeomen are looking to fill the role of punter and return specialist as they head into the year.

Oberlin begins its season on September 6 when they play host to Washington and Jefferson. Following a bye week, Oberlin will take on local rival Case Western Reserve at Savage Stadium and will also mark homecoming weekend for the athletics department. NCAC play will commence in week four when the Yeomen travel to Allegheny on September 27.

JEFF RAMSEY
Head Coach
10th Season
UC-Davis, 1983

Jeff Ramsey enters his 10th season as the head football coach for Oberlin College after taking the reins in 1999. He is the 31st football coach since the Yeomen began play in 1891 and has rejuvenated the storied tradition of a program that has spanned three centuries. Ramsey has worked wonders at Oberlin, guiding the team from the bottom of the North Coast Athletic Conference standings to contention for top honors in the league.

During his tenure with the Yeomen, Ramsey has continually raised the level of success while moving into fifth place on the all-time wins list. With Ramsey controlling the sidelines, Oberlin has also broken 127 school records and claimed the best NCAC record in school history finishing as high as second place in 2003. He has mentored 12 first-team All-NCAC athletes, 21 second-team selections and 26 honorable-mention players. Last year, he guided R.V. Carroll to the NCAC Player of the Year honors. While at Oberlin, Ramsey has also coached four All-Americans and 12 all-district players.

Ramsey, who played and coached for College Football Hall of Fame Inductees Jim Sochor and Chris Ault, has been an assistant on both sides of the ball and has experience at the Division I, I-AA, II, and III levels.

Ramsey arrived at Oberlin on the heels of a successful stint as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Sonoma State University in Northern California.

Prior to his time at Sonoma State, he coached the tight ends and wide receivers at the University of Nevada. The Wolfpack led Division I-AA in scoring and passing offense during Ramsey's tenure and reached the national championship game in 1990. Coach Ramsey has also assisted with the defensive backfield at Marietta College; completed a graduate assistantship at the University of Illinois, where he coached running backs and tight ends; and assisted at the University of California at Davis, where he coordinated the offense and coached the tight ends and freshmen. UC-Davis completed one of its greatest playoff runs with Ramsey as a player and assistant coach, landing in the Division II championship in 1982, making the semifinals in 1983, and competing in the quarterfinals in 1984 and 1985. He has tutored seven All-Americans and coached 13 players who have gone on to the National Football League.

"Our players and staff hear about the rich tradition of Oberlin College football, and they too want to make history with their efforts on the field," Ramsey said. "Our motto is never quit when you are ahead, and never give up when you are behind." As a player, Ramsey started at wide receiver and played backup quarterback for two seasons at UC-Davis, where he won the conference championship twice.

He earned his bachelor's degree in physical education in 1983 and a master of science degree in kinesiology and athletic administration from Illinois in 1988.

Ramsey and his wife, Elizabeth, have two children, C.J. and Shane. The family resides in Oberlin.

Chris Schubert

Tight Ends
1st Season
Oberlin, 2008

Former Oberlin great, Chris Schubert enters his first season as tight ends coach for the Yeomen. A 2008 graduate of Oberlin, Schubert is the school's all-time leading receiver with 2,536 yards.

Schubert, who was a three-time All-NCAC first-team selection, totaled 2,041 all-purpose yards as a receiver and return specialist last season. He hauled in 60 catches for 723 yards to go along with six touchdowns.

Schubert also holds the school record for receiving touchdowns (23), kickoff return yards in career (2,867), kickoff return yards in a season (1,056), punt returns yards in a career (343) and punt return yards in a season (180).

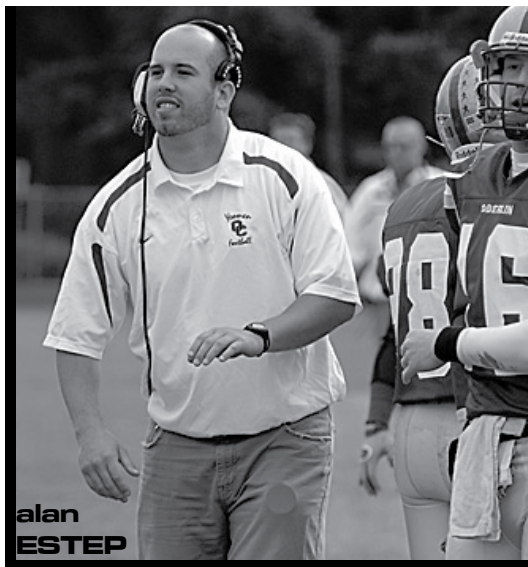

In 2008, Schubert was honored with Oberlin's Lysle K. Butler Award for his outstanding success on the field, in the classroom and in the community.

Mark Miller enters his first season as a student assistant coach and will assist Alan Estep with the offensive line.

Miller was a four-year letter winner for the Yeomen and earned second-team All-NCAC accolades in 2007. He was a key cog on the offensive line that allowed the Yeomen to score a school record 310 points last season.

Miller's efforts in the trenches also allowed R.V. Carroll to rush for 2,318 yards over the last two seasons. He also protected quarterback Greg Mangan, giving him the time to throw for 5,133 yards during his career.

Miller will be completing his bachelor's degree this year.

MARVIN KRISLOV

Oberlin College
14th President
Yale, 1982

Marvin Krislov became the 14th President of Oberlin College in the summer of 2007. He came to Oberlin from the University of Michigan, where he had been vice president and general counsel since 1998. At Michigan, Mr. Krislov led the University of Michigan's legal defense of its admission policies, resulting in the 2003 Supreme Court decision recognizing the importance of student body diversity.

Mr. Krislov received a bachelor's degree, summa cum laude, from Yale University in 1982. He received master's degrees from Oxford University and Yale, and a doctor of laws degree from Yale Law School in 1988.

Prior to entering academic life, Mr. Krislov served as acting solicitor from 1997-98 in the U.S. Department of Labor, and as deputy solicitor of national operations from 1996 to 1998. He had previously served as associate counsel in the Office of Counsel to the President.

Mr. Krislov is married to Amy Ruth Sheon, a biomedical researcher. They have three school-age children, sons Zachary and Jesse, and a daughter, Evie.

THE HEISMAN CLUB

John William Heisman (1869-1936) was the first professional coach at Oberlin College. In 1892, he led the football team to a perfect 7-0 record. In those days of high-powered football, the 1892 Oberlin grid squad defeated both Ohio State and Michigan and was ranked with Minnesota and Purdue as one of the three best teams west of the Allegheny Mountains.

Nearly a century later, Oberlin alumni, parents, and other friends honored Heisman's memory by forming the John W. Heisman Club. Created in 1978, its objective is to strengthen the entire intercollegiate athletics program. Almost one-quarter of a million dollars was raised over three years, with the initial emphasis directed at stabilizing the football program. In addition, funding necessary to support two coaching positions was provided, one for women's and one for men's intercollegiate sports. These positions have continued since 1981 with general college funding.

For their efforts, the club members receive first-hand information from the College's athletics community. Members also enjoy use of college athletics facilities during regular hours and free access to all Oberlin-sponsored athletics contests held on campus. Most importantly, they have the satisfaction of knowing they are the key supporters of Oberlin College athletics.

In 1985, Heisman Club members voted to transfer responsibility for the club and its activities from the Development Office to the Athletics and Physical Education Department, shifting its focus from pure fundraising to a wider range of services. The Heisman Club is a permanent organization of alumni and friends interested in supporting athletics in the Oberlin tradition. The current structure includes a managing board of eight members elected (for rotating terms) by the membership.

The club operates with four standing committees including Admissions Support, Development and Special Projects, Honors and History, and Communications. Each committee serves a specific purpose within the club's desire to support the entire intercollegiate athletics program. The chairperson of each committee recruits members-at-large to assist the club in its various efforts.

JOE KARLGAARD

Delta Lodge
Director of Athletics and Physical Education
4th Year
Stanford, 1996

As one of the nation's most exciting young athletic directors, Joe Karlgaard leads the resurgence of athletics and wellness at Oberlin College. Karlgaard, in his fourth year as the Delta Lodge Director of Athletics and Physical Education, has spearheaded Oberlin's transformation of varsity athletics, ushered in a campus-wide campaign for wellness, and helped restructure support for club sports.

Since becoming the interim director of athletics in August 2005, Karlgaard has led an unparalleled rise in varsity sports. Oberlin has improved its North Coast Athletic Conference All-Sports Trophy point total each of the last three years, including record totals in 2007 and 2008. Three Oberlin coaches have been named NCAC Coach of the Year under Karlgaard's direction (Deb Ranieri – field hockey; Blake New – men's soccer; Ray Appenheimer – women's cross country), while 8 of 22 varsity programs have achieved their highest conference placement in NCAC history. Five Oberlin athletes have won conference player of the year honors, and more than 200 have been named to all-conference teams.

In addition to guiding Oberlin's competitive improvements, Karlgaard has led the enhancement of athletics facilities and improved the department's financial status since 2005. Oberlin has invested $5 million in athletic facilities improvements over the last three years, with most of the funding provided through private gifts. Kahn Track and Shults Field, a $3 million stadium for track and field, soccer, and lacrosse, is the crown jewel of the college's outdoor facilities. The Don Hunsinger Tennis Courts, constructed in 2007, will play host to the 2010 NCAA Division III Men's Tennis Championships. Karlgaard has effectively reached out to Oberlin's alumni base as athletic director by raising nearly $500,000 through the Heisman Club and ushering in several major gifts for facility improvements.

Karlgaard turned his attention to campus-wide health issues in 2008. Partnering with the Division of Student Life and under sponsorship from the Office of the President, Oberlin hosted a two-week initiative to engage faculty, staff, and students in the pursuit of health and wellness. The high turnout on campus will ensure continued focus on fostering a culture of wellness at Oberlin in years to come.

Club sports have thrived through the partnership of athletics and student life. Karlgaard helped lead a 2008 task force charged with restructuring support for club sports. With a focus on safety, Karlgaard and Dean Linda Gates promoted access to qualified medical personnel and safe modes of transportation for these student-run teams. Oberlin now boasts one of the most robust and supported club sports programs among American liberal arts institutions.

Prior to becoming Oberlin's director of athletics and physical education, Karlgaard served as the assistant athletic director for external affairs during the 2004-05 academic year. In just one year, he tripled the number of active donors to the Heisman Club and redesigned the athletic department's publications.

A 1996 graduate of Stanford University with a bachelor's degree in history, Karlgaard was a four-year letter winner in track and field for the Cardinal. He returned to Stanford in 1998 as an assistant to Vin Lananna, his former coach. While on staff, Karlgaard helped guide the men's track and field squad to the NCAA Division I outdoor title, its first since 1934.

Karlgaard left Stanford in 2000 to pursue a doctoral degree at the University of Minnesota, where he also served as an assistant coach of men's cross country and track and field. In 2003, his final year in coaching, Minnesota won the Big Ten outdoor championship with the highest team score in conference history – 168.5 points. Karlgaard received his Ph.D. in educational policy and administration in 2005.

Karlgaard lives in Oberlin with his wife Jill, son Charlie (1), and dog Mickey.

ABOUT OBERLIN COLLEGE

Ranked consistently among the nation's top liberal arts schools, Oberlin College is committed to rigorous academics, artistic and musical excellence, and social justice. Founded in 1833, Oberlin was the first institution of higher education in America to adopt a policy to admit students of color (1835) and the first college to award bachelor's degrees to women (1841) in a coeducational program. Oberlin's distinct history of challenging intellectual and social conventions shapes the student experience today, which fosters strong bonds among a diverse community of bright and talented students from around the world.

OBERLIN'S DISTINGUISHED 175-YEAR HISTORY

The roots of Oberlin College reach back to 1833 when two young Yankee missionaries arrived at a stump-dotted clearing in the forests of northeast Ohio.

The Rev. John J. Shipherd and Philo P. Stewart, inspired by Alsatian pastor John Frederick Oberlin, resolved to found a college and colony on the western frontier "where they would train teachers and other Christian leaders for the boundless most desolate fields in the West." They shortly gained the support of Charles Grandison Finney, one of the 19th century's great revivalists. Finney's reputation attracted students to the college and colony, "bound together by a solemn covenant which pledged them to the plainest living and highest thinking," as well as financial support for the College and the town of Oberlin.

In the spring of 1833, the first settler, Peter Pindar Pease, built his log house at the center of Oberlin. That December, 29 men and 15 women students began classes in the Oberlin Collegiate Institute. Two years later circulars describing Oberlin noted, "Youths are received as members, irrespective of color." As a result, by the turn of the century one-third of all African American graduates of predominantly white institutions in the United States had graduated from Oberlin.

In 1837 four young women matriculated for the regular college course. Three of the four graduated in 1841 and became the first women in America to receive A.B. degrees. In 1850, by an act of the Ohio legislature, the Oberlin Collegiate Institute became Oberlin College. The change was in name only since collegiate instruction had been offered from 1834 when the original charter was granted.

The music division became part of the College in 1867, two years after its founding as a private school. The Graduate School of Theology, organized in 1835 as the theological division, was merged with the Divinity School of Vanderbilt University in 1966. Present-day Oberlin College reflects its early dedication to high intellectual standards, liberal education, excellence in teaching, and social and moral commitment.

The town of Oberlin, Ohio (population 8,600), is 35 miles southwest of Cleveland and is easily accessible by car, plane, bus, or train.
